

Air Vice Marshal Kapil Kak AVSM VSM served in the Indian Air Force in the flying branch for over three decades. He commanded an Operational Air Force Wing; and served as Directing Staff, and later Chief Instructor (Air), at the Defence Services Staff College, Wellington; India's Defence Attaché to Thailand; and Air Advisor to two successive Chiefs of the Indian Air Force. For distinguished service of exceptional order, the President of India awarded him the Ati Vishist Seva Medal and the Vishist Seva Medal.

A post-graduate in Defence/Strategic Studies from the Universities of Madras and Allahabad, Air Marshal Kapil Kak has, in recent years, authored around 50 book chapters and journal articles on a variety of strategic, national security, defence and air power issues, and edited the books India and Pakistan: Pathways Ahead (2007) and Comprehensive Security for an Emerging India (2010). He is a guest speaker on strategic and comprehensive security issues at the National Defence College, Armed Forces War Colleges, civil institutions of higher learning, and many universities. He is also a regular commentator on Indian television and radio networks.

A former Deputy Director at the Institute for Defence Studies and Analyses in New Delhi, and Advisor (Strategic Studies) at the University of Jammu, Air Marshal Kapil Kak is the Founder and Additional Director (2002-2012) of the Centre for Air Power Studies, New Delhi. He has represented India at a number of Track II conferences on international security and defence issues, and continues to be closely associated with the initiatives of many public policy think tanks on the India-Pakistan peace process and conflict resolution in Jammu and Kashmir. He is the Convener of the Indian delegation for the RAND Corporation-sponsored India-US Track II Biannual Dialogue on International Security and Air Power issues. He is also on the Board of Trustees of the Kashmir-based Centre for Peace and Development Initiatives and on the Board of Directors of the New Delhi-based Healing Minds Foundation.